Paul Muller

IT Management Evangelist, Software, Enterprise Business
Hewlett-Packard Company

Paul Muller leads the global IT management evangelist team within the Software business at HP. In this role, Muller heads the team responsible for fostering HP's participation in the IT management community, contributing to and communicating best practices in helping IT perform better.

Previously, Muller was global vice president of strategic marketing for HP Software, responsible for leading the development and execution of HP's IT management portfolio go-to-market strategy.

An IT industry veteran with 20 years of experience in enterprise IT, Muller joined HP's Professional Services Organization in 1998. During his tenure at HP he has successfully led sales and marketing across Australasia and Asia Pacific regions through the acquisitions of Peregrine Systems, Mercury Interactive and Opsware.

Prior to joining HP, Muller developed his Unix and systems management consulting practice working with leading private and public enterprises across Australia.
