

Yves de Talhouët

Senior Vice President and Managing Director
HP EMEA
Hewlett-Packard Company

---

Yves de Talhouët serves as senior vice president and managing director for HP Europe, the Middle East and Africa (EMEA). In this role he is responsible for leading the business that encompasses a broad hardware, software and services portfolio for enterprise and public sector customers. De Talhouët also chairs the region's leadership team, bringing together the full range of HP's solutions across cloud and connectivity for both enterprise and consumer audiences.

Prior to his current role, De Talhouët was vice president for HP's Enterprise business in France, where under his leadership the team achieved double-digit growth. In 2010, De Talhouët was responsible for signing one of the largest and most innovative contract agreements in the history of HP France.

De Talhouët has held a variety of international and senior management positions during his more than 25-years in the industry. Before joining HP in 2006, he was CEO of Oracle France where he was responsible for a number of strategic growth projects including the merger of Oracle and PeopleSoft and the acquisition of Siebel. Prior to this, he was vice president, Consulting and Systems Integration at Atos with responsibility for Southern Europe, Africa and the Middle East.

A French national, de Talhouët attended the Ecole Polytechnique and graduated with a Master of Sciences in telecommunications from the Ecole Nationale Supérieure des Télécommunications. He later completed his MBA at the Institut des Sciences Politiques, Paris.

De Talhouët is based in Geneva, Switzerland. He is married with three children.

