

McLeod Glass

Director of Marketing, Industry Standard Servers
Enterprise Storage, Servers and Networking
Hewlett-Packard Company

McLeod Glass is director of product marketing for Industry Standard Servers at HP, where he is responsible for server product marketing and defining technology strategies for HP ProLiant servers.

Glass joined HP in 2000 as an engineering project manager. For the past three years, he has worked in Taipei, Taiwan, where he created and led the ISS Developing Markets and Tower Server Product Marketing teams. His previous experience includes product marketing for ProLiant servers, HP StorageWorks arrays and ProLiant options.

Glass holds a master's degree from the University of Florida.